

How our blended learning courses make good sense for employers and for your first aiders too

Your learners go online for the theory modules

We have developed self-directed learning materials that really engage learners, with interactive bitesize learning, built in knowledge quizzes, dedicated inbox support, FAQs and how to guides.

STAFF BENEFIT:

Your colleagues can learn at their own pace, in the workplace or home environment, whichever best suits their learning needs. The animated scenarios provide a step-by-step learning experience helping sustain knowledge and gain confidence.

WORKPLACE BENEFIT:

Our blended learning option gives the freedom of completing part of the course online, allowing less time away from the learner's place of work, and more flexibility to the learner.

Learners join our face-to-face sessions for essential hands-on practice

Our specialist trainers lead delegates through the hand-on skills required for each qualification level. Learners will be required to join in with a number of practical and physical assignments – engaging with these is critical to becoming certified in life saving skills.

STAFF BENEFIT:

Our face-to-face sessions are held in small groups of learners. The day will be led by a specialist trainer who will teach lifesaving skills and answer any questions you may have.

WORKPLACE BENEFIT:

There is sure to be a number of St John Ambulance training venues in your area within easy reach for your colleagues, which minimises travel costs and absence from the workplace.

“ Brilliantly presented. The blended course format really helped me to understand the course content, and allowed for ‘what-if’ questions. ”
